BARBERS' LAW

Goes Into Effect On and After Today.

State Examiners Will Issue License to Expert Workmen.

A new law requiring barbers to have license, which was passed at the last session of the legislature, will become operative today, and the members of the board of examiners have been busily engaged for the rush. They filed their bonds with the Jefferson county clerk yesterday and if approved will begin issuing license at once. Those who get license within 90 days will have to pay only $1 for them, but after that time $6 will be charged. The barbers will be required to hang their license behind their chairs so they can be seen by their patrons.

The law provides for a board of examiners, consisting of three men, who will examine all the men who desire to follow the trade, and inspect the shops. Gov. Beckham has appointed the following: John Schmeltzer, president; William Brown, vice president, and Ge. Re. G. Rutenbush, secretary-treasurer. The former was appointed to serve one year, Mr. Brown three years, and Mr. Rutenbush two years. They will not work at their trade, but will devote their entire time to examining applicants and inspecting shops.

It is not known when the examiners will be in Hopkinsville. There are about twenty barbers in this city who will have to be examined.

Mrs. Clark was formerly Miss Charlie Belle Baldwin, and a daughter of Mrs. James Western. She was only eighteen years of age and was married to Mr. Clark about six months ago.

She was exceedingly popular and leaves a wide circle of friends to mourn their loss.

SHOT THE WELL,

But Failed to Loosen Bit and Hole Abandoned.

Sand Lick Development Company

Will Sink Another Oil Well

Near Former One.

Fowler Bros., who have the contract for boring for oil in North Christian for the Sand Lick Development company, will abandon the well on which they have been at work for some time, and will sink another well about half mile from the first one.

At a depth of about 1000 feet the drill broke and after exhausting all other means in an effort to loosen the bit the well was shot, but this proved unsuccessful, and it was then decided to abandon the hole.

The derrick, engine and boiler will be moved to the new location at once and operations will again be in full blast in about two weeks.

The broken drill has caused a delay of two months and a loss of probably $1,500 to the contractors. The contract calls for a well 2,000 feet deep, unless oil is struck in paying quantities at a lesser depth.

Regions of Present Volcanic Activity.

(From Robert T. Hill, in Our Young World.)

The active volcanic groups of the Western Hemisphere occur in five widely separated regions:

1. The Andean group of volcanoes of the equatorial region of western South America.

2. The chain of some twenty-five great cinder cones which stretch east and west across the south end of the Mexican plateau.

3. The Central American group, with its thirty-one active craters, extending diagonally across the western ends of the east and west of the Caribbean corrugations, fringing the Pacific side of Guatemala, San Salvador, and Costa Rica. This is separated from the Mexican group on the north by a large non-volcanic area, the Isthmus of Tehuantepec, and on the south from the Andean volcanoes by the Isthmus of Panama, where no active volcanoes are found.

4. The chain of volcanoes of the Windward Islands, marking the eastern gate of the Caribbean Sea, standing in a line directly across the eastern terminus of the Caribbean Mountains, trending east and west, and parallel to the Central American group similarly situated at their western termini.

5. The volcanoes of Alaska and the Aleutian Islands.

The South For Poultry.

There is a splendid opening in the South for the development of the poultry industry. In a number of cases marked development has been made with eminent success. The most conspicuous progress is to be noted in several places in East Tennessee, particularly around Morristown, and in some portions of Virginia. From these points shipments of eggs by car-loads is a common occurrence.

At several points parties have made poultry their only industry, devoting quite a little capital to its development. At Riverport, Va., the Morgan Duck Ranch is a unique place of interest. For several years this enterprise has been carried on, and at the present time there are several thousand ducks of all ages being prepared for market.

Poultry-raising in the South has numerous advantages. The climate is so mild that fowls do not need to be so carefully housed as is the case farther north. Lumber is cheap, and one need not be at great expense for suitable buildings. Land for ranges is also cheap. With a very small capital one can go into the business on a considerable scale.

The market for eggs and poultry in the South is a very advantageous one. At the present time the supply is not sufficient for local consumption. Further than this, it may be stated that direct and immediate access to the largest cities in the country, either in the East, the Central, West or the South, and at the present time good markets are found in Cuba and the West Indies.

The South can raise poultry and eggs of good quality as any other section when the same attention is given to breed and care. The difference in price often apparent in the market is occasioned by the inferiority of the breed, producing a product not as desirable as that made expressly for market purposes. Further, eggs and poultry always bring good prices in the South—chickens from 15 to twenty cents apiece, often much higher.—Southern Farm Magazine.

Silver Ducklings.

By SYLVESTER SHIRLEY, Port Clinton, O.

Why the Silver Duckling Leghorn is not more extensively bred I cannot understand. The male has a silver white hackle, back and saddle, black across the wings and jet black body color. The female has a silver gray hackle, light gray back, light salmon breast, bright yellow shanks and toes. They are to my eye the prettiest variety of the whole chicken race. In size they rank with the Single Comb Browns and they will lay as many large white eggs as any of their Leghorn cousins. They will lay during the coldest weather if properly housed and fed. They are extremely hardy. The chicks grow fast and with good care the pullets will lay at 4½ and 5 months of age. They make a good table fowl, as they are small boned with a good breast. Their bright yellow carcass makes as tempting a sight as a lover of good chicken would wish to see. They are the tamest variety in the Mediterranean class, being easy to handle and yard. I keep them in an enclosure with only 4½ foot fence between them and liberty, without their wings being clipped and it is very seldom one flies over. They are one of the easiest of the parti-colored varieties to breed to standard qualities. I use the single mating system and last season produced cockerels and pullets that scored to 94½ under two judges. Let's have more and better Silver Ducklings.

The beef trust now controls the chicken and egg markets, but has not as yet succeeded in cornering the mock oysters.

Everybody's Magazine.

To describe adequately "The World's Great Disasters" is the task set C. Bryson Taylor, in the July Everybody's. He has written in superb style the stories of the destruction of Pompeii, the earthquake at Lisbon, the passing of Port Royal and the cataclysm at Yaddo, picturing the life of these cities at the moment of destruction. Photographs of the ruins of St. Pierre accompanying the article. The interest of "A Lost Art Revived" is pictorial—here are reproduced the Leoni illuminations of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States. The parchments are set off with fine miniatures of the great men of Revolutionary days and scenes in the history of America. Donald Murray, inventor of the Postal Telegraph's system of Writing Telegraphy, writes "The Strange Story of the Printing Telegraph." "The Delights of Salmon Fishing" are described by Charles Hallock, and finely depicted by Dagmore and other photographers. A "Revival of Feminine Handicraft," by Minnie J. Reynolds, describes the new movement which promises to provide general employment for men and women having an artistic sense. There is also a capital description of Grand Prix Day in Paris, telling of the habits and manners of the French grande monde on that great occasion, together, of course, with the toilet they display.

The July Century.

The July Century is a "Summer Fiction Number," containing contributions in this field from popular writers and from newcomers. There is a short story by the late Paul Leicester Ford, entitled "Wanted: A Chaperon," with illustrations by Gilbert, probably the last piece of completed fiction by the author of "Janice Meredith." To Dr. Weir Mitchell's group of "Little Stories" is added a piquant sketch entitled "A Dilemma," setting forth a "lady or the tiger" problem: David Gray, author of "Gallop," contributes a car-house story entitled "Ting-A-Ling" and Frank Norris a story of the frontier West entitled "The Passing of Cock-Eye Blacklock." Harry Stillwell Edwards, author of "Two Runaways," prints a rollicking story of rival negro churches in the South, "The Little Unpleasantness at New Hope." There are also stories by Louise Collier Wilcox, Will N. Harben and Charles Bryant Howard, the last a bit of West Indian local color. The variety of this list is further extended by the fourth part of the "Confessions of a Wife" by Mary Adams, the theme of which is estrangement, as those of the preceding portions have been respectively Courtship, Marriage and Motherhood.

FAILURES ON INCREASE.

According to Report of Dunn & Co. For Week.

Failures last week in the United States are 194, against 162 the week before, 215 the preceding week and 193 the corresponding week last year, and in Canada 19, against 20 the week before, 16 the preceding week and 14 last year. Of failures last week in the United States 71 were in the East, 48 in the South, 55 in the West and 20 in the Pacific States, and 57 report liabilities of $5,000 or more.

RESTORING THE STADIUM.

W. E. Curtis Tells of the Ancient Structure of Athens, Greece.

The Ancient Stadium, built 330 years before Christ by Lycurgus, the famous statesman and lawgiver, and one of the noblest, ablest and most practical rulers of Greece, is now being restored in pure white marble after the old style by the generosity of the late George Averoff, a Greek merchant of Alexandria. His motive was the same as that of Lycurgus, to encourage physical culture among the Greeks, who are very deficient in that important particular. This was demonstrated at the Olympic games, which took place here in 1896. Every event with one exception was captured by strangers. The one exception was the long distance race, twenty-five miles from the Stadium in Athens to the monument on the battlefield at Marathon, which was won by a young Greek shepherd named Spiridon Loues, and as a reward, in addition to the prize, the government gave him a monopoly of the sale of water from the spring of Maronisi, the favorite drinking water of the Greeks. This spring is a popular resort on the side of the Pentelikon Mountain, near Tatoi, the summer residence of the king. There is a large sale of the water in Athens, and it is brought in fresh from the spring every morning in sheep skins and in large earthen jars. Loues, the runner, is doing a good business, and has increased the demand by representing that its use gave him the strength and speed which won the Marathon race.

The representatives of American colleges who were here in 1896 acquitted themselves with distinguished honor and carried off their share of the prizes. One of the remarkable incidents was the capture by Robert Garrett of Baltimore, then of Princeton University, of the prize for discus throwing, a classic Greek game. Mr. Garrett had never seen a discus until his arrival in Athens, but outplayed the Greeks in their own game on their own field.

The new Stadium will be a beautiful structure of marble, an amphitheater 670 feet long and 109 feet broad, with sixty rows of seats of pure white marble, rising one upon the other and accommodating 30,000 spectators. It is an ideal place for football and similar athletics, and when finished will surpass every other field for sports in ancient or modern times. The cost is comparatively small here in Greece, where the great quarries of Pentelikon yield their marble treasures for only the cost of cutting and transportation, and no doubt Mr. Averoff's munificence will inspire an ambition among his countrymen to develop their physical as well as their intellectual qualities.

HICKMAN'S WITHDRAWAL.

State Senator Geo. W. Hickman,
of McLean county, issued a card Saturday withdrawing from the congressional race. He candidly confessed that his race was "illogical," a fact that had been evident to the public from the first. McLean county is one of the smallest counties in the district and with the entire vote of his county at his back, Senator Hickman was handicapped
from 2,000 to 4,000, when pitted against either of his competitors.
His hope was that his legislative record would bring to him a general and enthusiastic support outside of his own county. In this he was disappointed. It was finally brought to his knowledge that his record in the last legislature was a source of weakness. He made some very serious mistakes, both as to his votes and his alliances, and thereby alienated many of his friends, who would otherwise have given him a most earnest support.
Senator Hickman will doubtless recall that some of his best friends warned him at the beginning of the session to "beware of entangling alliances," but instead of exercising his own natural gifts as a leader, he permitted himself to be influenced by others to espouse the unpopular side of many questions
upon which his constituents entertained very decided opinions.

Desiring to be perfectly fair to all of the candidates, the KENTUCKY
refrained from saying these things while Senator Hickman was a candidate and they are not said now in any unkind spirit. He is one of the really bright and brainy young men of the district, and may yet make amends for past blunders and read his title clear to a seat in Congress.

The question raised at Henderson that the primary election may have to be postponed on account of the failure of the committee to post notices at court house doors is not important. The committee's official call was published in all the papers and the unimportant details were ignored. The question has never been passed upon by the courts and if it should ever be construed the courts would probably hold that the new law requiring all official publications to be made in newspapers
instead of on court house doors, virtually repeals this part of the primary election law. But there will be no difference of opinion over the matter. If the candidates want a postponement of 10 days the committee will doubtless do as the candidates wish, as it did in the first place. It may be of interest though to note that the same question was raised in the 6th district and no attention paid to it.

Brig. Gen. Jacob Smith, who was recently tried by court-martial for his conduct while in command in the island of Samar, left Manila yesterday for San Francisco. The latest rumor is that he was found guilty and is coming home to be "reprimanded" for his "kill and burn" order.

At the Kentucky Pharmaceutical Association's meeting at Grayson Springs last week, Dr. Jas. O. Cook, of this city, was put on the committee on papers and queries for the meeting next June at Estill Springs.

The Democratic Committee of the second district will meet at Henderson at 10 o'clock to-day to consider arrangements for the primary election August 2.

The primary election in Louiville Saturday resulted in the nomination of Thos. R. Gordon for circuit judge, over Capt. Frank Hagan.

President Roosevelt will appoint
Simon Dolivar Buckner, Jr., to a

MR. BRASHER'S IMPROVED CHANCES.

The withdrawal of Senator Hickman makes McLean county one of the battle-grounds of the district.
The distribution of his votes cannot be safely estimated at this time.
Much will depend upon Senator
Hickman's own course in the matter.
Judge Taylor naturally expects to get a majority of the McLean county vote, but it is believed that Senator Hickman's personal influence will be given to Mr. Stanley, upon the idea that Taylor's candidacy shut him out of the race. If he realizes that the finish is to be between Taylor and Brasher, he may throw his strength to Brasher, because the success of his next door neighbor would lessen his own chances in the near future.

McLean county happens to be adjoining the home counties of all three of the candidates, and its 1200 votes are not liable to greatly benefit any one man. It is perhaps fair to conclude that a practical offer will be the result.

In other parts of the district, it is evident to the most casual observer that the Hickman votes will go to Brasher. The anti-Stanley vote in Webster was divided between Brasher and Hickman and Brasher will now get practically all of the votes in that county
that would have gone to Hickman.

As Judge Taylor's home paper
last week conceded Webster to Brasher, it is now a practical certainty that he has, at this writing, by far the best claim to that county.

In Christian county the contest had narrowed down to a choice between Brasher and Hickman and the latter's withdrawal removes any formidable opposition to Brasher in this county. Mr. Brasher spent last week in this county and was everywhere assured by those pledged to Hickman that he would get their support if Hickman dropped out. It is a far estimate to say that at least 500 votes have been added to Brasher's strength in Christian and his vote in the county may now be safely figured at 2,000 votes.

In Union county Senator Hickman
was not a strong factor in the race
and conditions there will not be altered materially. Stanley will probably carry the county, with Brasher a close second.

There are 7,500 votes north of Green river from which Taylor
must draw his greatest strength, with Stanley and Brasher dividing the scattering votes. South of Green river there are 16,500 votes to be contested for by Stanley and Brasher. On a basis of a three-quarter vote to be cast, these figures would be changed to about 5,700
north and 12,500 south of Green river. The man who wins must get about 7,000 of the 18,200 votes, or in that proportion if the vote is smaller.

Miss Alice Lander, of the city schools faculty, while attending the State Teachers' Association at the examination with great credit, at the head of a class of ten, attaining an average grade of 94.

On many of the branches her grade was as high as 98. The certificate

tucky. Miss Lander is one of the

A NOHER SEASHORE TRIP.

Arrangements Being Made to Run One More Special.

Arrangements have about been completed for running the annual Old Point Comfort special to the seashore in August. Though the date has not yet been fully decided upon it will probably be August 12. The conditions, limit of tickets, etc., will be about the same as last year and an official announcement of same will be made in a few days with full particulars.

This is decidedly the most pleasant trip that can be taken from this section and many who went on the first seashore special have never since missed a year.

Inquiries from all over the country are already coming in and from present indications the crowd this year will be the largest in the history of these popular excursions to the Atlantic coast.

EXPERT TESTIMONY.

On the Watercure by Prof. W. B. Brewer.

Many contradicting statements are made about the practice of the "water cure" by the army in the Philippines. Editors and Congressmen are indignant at the cruelty of pumping one or two gallons of water into a man in the course of an examination of him to get information. We do not wish to be considered as approving any cruelty to prisoners, but we will state that in the early 70's we were frequently at Cerulean Springs, Trigg county, where a number of young men met very often to try to see how much water each could drink in less than five minutes. Mr. Gus Goodwin, who is now living, could load eight quarts under his belt in that time, and he felt no inconvenience from it. There were several others who were close second. We think we know some Americans who would thank an army man to pump one or two gallons of beer into them at one sitting.—Fairview Review.

WHAT HICKS SAYS.

Warm Waves With Wicked Storms Predicted For July.

A summary of July weather, according to Hicks, is given below: Venus disturbance is central on the 2nd, extending its influence during the middle of the month. The effects of this Venus period will be very marked during the regular Vulcan storm period extending from the 4th to the 10th.

On Friday and Saturday, the 4th and 5th, Moon is at her extreme declination north, in perigee, and at New Moon. These facts, added to other existing causes, foreshadow a warm wave of great intensity, a low state of barometric pressure, a high per cent of atmospheric humidity and some wicked storms of thunder, wind, rain and hail.

Some of the most disastrous hail storms that ever visited the central and northwestern sections, occur during astronomic combinations similar to those existing through storm periods in the first half of July. Such visitations need not be looked for by any reader of these forecasts, about Friday the 4th, to Monday the 7th. Change to quite cool for the season may naturally be expected on the heels of these disturbances.

The 10th day of July is not strictly within the limits of a storm period, but it is the date on which the Moon crosses the celestial equator, and is covered by the combined influences of the Venus and Mercury periods. Hence the reactionary storms due about the 11th to 13th, will most probably develop on and touching the 10th. Excessive warm weather will exist prior to storm culminations at this time. The opposition of the planet Saturn falls on the 17th, and unless frequent and general electrical storms occur to break up the concentration of solar energy, a prolonged term of intensely warm weather will continue through the all central part of the month.

On July 17th, we will pass between Saturn and the sun, and on August 5th, we will sail in between the sun and great Jupiter. This segregated order may allow breathing spells between these planetary oppositions, attended by storms, with frequent rains and fluctuations from phenomenally warm to pleasantly cool weather. If we do not have such a broken up order during July and August, but a time of prolonged heat, with little electrical phenomena, general and severe drought will prevail over most parts of the country up to September equinox, and the present seismic state of unrest will be prolonged.

We may expect some notable disturbances between Wednesday the 16th, and Monday the 20th.

The 22nd to the 24th inclusive will bring a reaction from high to a lower barometer, the temperature will rise to higher readings, and storminess, with lightning, threatening clouds, and rain in many localities, will be natural, all reaching the culminating stages on and touching the 24th.

The last storm period for July culminating during the closing days of the month, low barometer, cloudiness with probable rain and thunder storms being in transit from west to east as July goes out.

JERSEY CATTLE.

The Great Hood Farm Auction Sale.

Largest and Best Sale of Jerseys In This Country For Years.

The recent auction sale at Hood Farm, Lowell, Mass., dispersed 154 beautiful Jerseys to breeders and farmers all over the country from Maine to Oregon, it being the largest and most successful sale of American-bred Jerseys that has been held in this country for years. There was an attendance of over 500, there being 58 different buyers, comprising the best known Jersey breeders in the country. The sale was conducted by Peter C. Kellogg, of New York.

The 48 cows sold brought $9165, an average of $190, 67 heifers and calves sold for $5890, and 39 bulls and bull calves brought $2895. Thirty head by the great show bull Hood Farm Pogue sold for $3810; 19 by Torono for $2907; 8 by Sophie's Tormentor for $2206, an average of $287.8 by Brown Besse's Son, $1200; and 8 by Chromo, $824. Three young heifers by Hood Farm Pogue 9th, brought $655, an average of $218.

The remarkably good prices brought by the young heifers of Hood Farm Pogue 9th show that breeders appreciate the great breeding represented in this young bull and his progeny. None of these heifers are in milk, their average age being about 14 months. One of them brought $330, this being the highest price paid for any female not in milk. Hood Farm Pogue 9th is retained at the head of the Hood farm herd. He is a son of the famous cow Figgis, by the great show bull Hood Farm Pogue. Figgis herself was the great plum of the sale and was bought by the well known banker and copper magnate, Mr. Thomas W. Lawson, of Boston. The price paid was $875.

This sale reduces the Hood Farm herd to a more convenient basis for business, and young stock from the Hood Farm will continue to be in demand among progressive breeders. Besides others, the herd now contains 30 daughters and granddaughters of Hood Farm Pogue, 36 daughters and granddaughters of Sophie's Tormentor and 10 daughters of Hood Farm Pogue 9th.

The famous imported Berkshire boar Sambo, which Mr. Hood himself bought in England two years ago, was purchased by Charles F. Mills of Springfield, Ills., for $150, and about 50 other choice Berkshires were sold at average prices, which showed that the demand for this breed of hogs is good.

Wait for the Great Clearance Sale of the Eli Walker dry goods at Moayon's Big Store July 9.

FURNACE CLOSED DOWN.

Capacity of Furnace Greater Than Supply of Water.

The big iron furnace at Grand Rivers has been closed down after being operated only a few months. The St. Louis capitalists who have invested thousands of dollars in the two furnaces and in one lands say the capacity of the furnaces is greater than the supply of ore, and so further attempt will be made to run until the proposed railroad is built from the ore field between the rivers to the furnaces. The quality of pig iron turned out was satisfactory. The furnaces were idle for several years before they were started this last time.

THE SHOP-STAMPED FACE.

How One's Circumstances Are Apt to Reflect Themselves in the Countenance.

"I wish I could get the stamp of the shop-stamp of my face," said a bright young shop girl during one of the confidential luncheon chats that are sometimes unobtrusively overheard, records the New York Herald.

"Yes," asserted her older and better dressed companion, "but you cannot expect that until you are lucky married."

"Oh, I don't know that that is impossible," and the younger one shrugged her shoulders rather gracefully.

"You may laugh," nodded the elder, "but if you would follow my prescription you might acquire a placid expression that very easily imitates the ease of comfort."

"All right, you are my doctor; now go ahead," and the girl pushed back her plate and leaned her chin in her hands.

"When I first married," said the older woman, "I fell to studying my mirror. Tom had said so much about my looking tired, and there was no excuse for my being tired, so I concluded that it was the wear and tear of life in the store which had added things to my face."

"Upon close examination I found a little tiny wrinkle on my brow. It was so straight and unbending that I decided it sprouted and grew under the baneful influence of various and sundry floor walkers, and as I had graduated from floor walker and other stern things I ordered the wrinkle out."

"Another, but kinder one, in a quivering and disagreeable way, was becoming too much attached to the outer corner of my eye. That, I decided, was the rent day wrinkle. It was capable of such an infinite number of positions that it could only have come from the many fierce skirmishes I had had with my dear, darling landladies."

"One little one," she went on, "just below my eye, came from the fear I always nursed of the day when I should be broke out of a position and sick, so I called that my hospital wrinkle; and another one, a little lower, came from squinting my disdain at the picturesque corner stars, who think they have an affinity for every shop girl who looks the least bit hungry."

"After all these classifications I told my mirror that we were to have a daily consultation, that I was in love with my husband, who was in love with me, and that, inasmuch as there were to be no more worries or cares of the store variety, therefore there were to be no more wrinkles, and," with a sweep of her hand over the table, "so you see me, a most placid and contented woman."

DIDN'T KNOW IT WAS LOADED.

A Modern Young Annanias Who Will Be More Careful in Future.

There is a young man in Milwaukee who recently came into possession of an ancient-looking pearl-handled revolver, for which he had no use, being of a retiring and inoffensive disposition. However, he was not inclined to economy, nor inseparably united to the truth, so one day when coffee and rolls became a serious problem he recalled to mind the revolver and also an enthusiastic collector of antiques with whom he is acquainted. He presented his case to the collector thus:

"There is a gun that has defended a house more than once. My uncle carried it in the civil war from '62 to '65. He was a lieutenant. At the close of the war he gave it to my grandmother, who gave it to me last winter."

The collector said: "That makes it quite interesting. May I look at it?" The young man handed him the weapon. The collector looked at the name, and, turning it on its side, said: "Did you ever notice this mark on the slide, my friend?"

The young man looked and saw stamped on the barrel: "Pat. Apr. 23, 1876."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

British Museum Newspapers.

The question of finding storeroom for the vast accumulation of newspapers at the British Museum will be solved by the government purchasing a site of about six acres at Henric for the erection of a building in which to store the newspapers, and a preliminary vote of £2,000 this year towards the total of £15,000 required for the site and building has been placed upon this session's civil service estimates. It is not intended that anything in the shape of a reading-room shall be established there, the papers being available at Bloomsbury, as at present, for persons who wish to refer to them, and who give a day's notice of their desire.

'STARVATION.'

We shudder at the word starvation. It calls up in our minds a picture of some gaunt, famished man, who, in a land of plenty, perishes for lack of a crust. Such cases are rare. The commoner case of starvation is that of man or woman who eats but is not nourished; whose flesh wastes in spite of plenty of wholesome food. Loss of flesh is one of the sure indications of serious disease. It means a gradual starvation, not from lack of food, but because the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition being diseased cannot digest and assimilate the food received.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enables the perverted digestion and assimilation of food, so that lost flesh is restored and lost strength is regained.

"I was weak, nervous and dizzy, with a fainting sensation when walking," writes Mr. Joseph Childress, of Samuel, Sullivan Co., Tenn. "Could not walk any distance; always felt bad after eating; always uneasiness in stomach. Was taken down in January, 1898. Doctored with two or three physicians but they did not relieve me any. I grew worse and used everything I could think of; was nearly ready to give up and then some one told me that Dr. Pierce's medicine was good, so I began taking his 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I have taken seven bottles of that now and am as stout as ever, and enjoying health as much as ever. My case was nervous dyspepsia and liver disease of which your medicine has cured me. In September, 1898 my weight was ninety-five pounds, now it is one hundred and ninety-five."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets should be used with "Golden Medical Discovery" whenever the need of a laxative is indicated.

Don't Wait Until Fall TO BEGIN TO BUILD.

It takes a month or more to get the plan question settled, and the best houses can not be built in a hurry. A house built in the winter is seldom satisfactory, and a fall beginning means a winter ending. Furthermore, prices on all materials are generally higher in the fall. Then too, most people wait 'till then to build, and work brings a higher price when there is a great deal of it. Hence you have everything to gain and nothing to lose by building in the Spring and Summer.
